

American Indian Center Code of Conduct

The American Indian Center (AIC) is a gathering place for members, guests, volunteers, and staff and provides a safe space for the community to engage in cultural traditions. The AIC offers education classes, sports, and recreation opportunities. We organize our community for action while providing select social services to members.

The Center seeks to maintain a dignified and respectful environment for all who enter our doors. Violations of the AIC Code of Conduct will result in actions taken towards those individuals.

All members, guests, volunteers, and staff who enter into the Center agree to keep the Center safe by refraining from the following:

- Physical or verbal threats of any kind.
- Harassment, bullying, or coercion of any person in any way.
- Sexually explicit language, obscene gestures, or cursing.
- Racial, religious, gendered, or ethnic slurs.
- Leaving children unattended.
- Running through hallways and horseplay.
- Smoking outside of designated areas.
- Storing one's personal belongings.
- Photography or video will be occurring on these premises. Please tell the staff if you would prefer that your image not be used in promotional materials.
- Any unlawful acts, including but not limited to:
 - Defacing, damaging or destroying property.
 - Possession, use or sale of illegal drugs, alcohol, weapons, or contraband.
 - Public disturbance.
 - Fighting.
 - Littering.
 - Loitering.

This notice is posted at the AIC building and on the AIC website. Upon request, the AIC will provide a copy of the Code of Conduct.
